

THE GLEICHEN CALL

VOLUME 43 NO. 24-25

Authorized as second class mail,
Post Office Department, Ottawa.

GLEICHEN, ALBERTA, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 6, 1950

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

Town & District

The town is calling for tenders to fix up the main street. The tenders must be in by next Saturday.

Mrs Leroy Koefoed under went an operation in a Calgary hospital last Friday.

Quite a few Gleichen and district people attended the auto races in Calgary Monday.

Tom James has resigned his position as manager of a store at Beyon and has accepted a similar position with the Gleichen Pharmacy.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. MacCallum returned last week from a visit to their daughter at Victoria. While at the coast they saw quite a few former Gleichen residents.

Mrs. C. Hatton who has been with staff of the Gleichen Pharmacy has given up her position and accepted a position in Herd's Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barratt and children of Kimberley, B. C. are in town visiting Mr. and Mrs. Eli Woods.

After spending a couple of weeks in the Bassano hospital Eli Woods has returned home.

The work of regrading and fixing up the road between Gleichen and Arrowwood is expected to get underway next week. As soon as the road is repaired it will be made into an all weather road by graveling. This road is one of the hardest roads to keep in good condition in the country. The soil drifts easily and every time it is dragged the wind promptly blows away the powdery soil. Graveling will stop the drifting.

Mrs. Miller had as her guest her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. O. Ferrari, of Kemmerer, Wy. Accompanying them Mr. Ferrari's brother Charles.

Mrs. Deshayes and her daughter Mrs. Patton are at present in Great Falls, Montana, visiting friends and relatives.

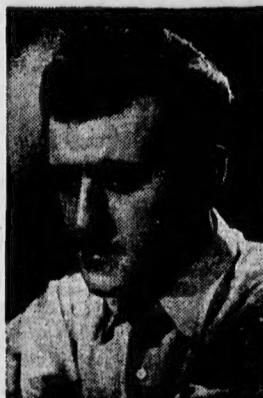

Mr. and Mrs. W. Schmidt spent the weekend in Edmonton. Mr. Schmidt went up to attend a gun club meet sponsored by the Edmonton Club. There were crack shots from as far east as Ohio and west to the Pacific coast. In the main event, Calcutta contest Mr. Schmidt failed by one bird to get into the finals and the large prize offered. He said it was tricky shooting owing to the wind which blew the birds "every which way."

Tuesday the town came to life with the opening of school. Buses rolled about town, the school bell clanged and the boys and girls marched off to school. It was a great day for the beginners.

Mrs. Cunningham left last week to spend some six months holidaying with her sister in the States.

The Assiniboia road construction company has a large outfit of road building equipment at work constructing the Trans-Canada highway north of town. This outfit is at present working about two miles west of the thirteen mile corner. So much equipment have this company working that they need over a mile of space to do their work properly. Those people who like to see men and huge machines in action should pay a visit to the scene. There are those who say when the company starts to widen the highway east of the thirteen mile corner they will do a mile a day.

Some laws passed in the good old days in various provinces and states have never been repealed, because the law makers are too busy making new laws. Shopkeepers in one province should put this law into effect. It says that women can be jailed for trying on more than six dresses in one store. In an eastern province it is illegal to quarrel on Sunday or drive past horses with traction engines. In one state just south of the border you can't fish for trout from the back of any animal. In the same state it is against the law to shoot any game bird from an interurban trolley. In another state you can be sent to jail if you fish for whales in any of the state's lakes or streams. A Canadian city has an ordinance which prohibits men and women having dates after 12 o'clock at night.

Bernie Braden, whose program Bernie Braden Tells a Story is heard Monday to Friday on the CBC Trans-Canada network.

A. S. Tower Died Suddenly

A. S. Tower, familiarly known as Pete Tower, a resident of Gleichen district for over 40 years died suddenly Monday evening at his farm home north west of town.

Mr. Tower had not been in the best of health for sometime and on Monday had worked most of the day. That evening while walking across the floor at his home collapsed and died from a sudden heart attack.

He came to Gleichen in 1909 from the states and purchased a farm north west of town where he had lived since that time.

Besides his widow he is survived by two sons and a daughter; a sister living in Portland. The funeral will take place in Calgary Friday afternoon.

INSURANCE NOT SAVINGS

"Unemployment insurance is making bums out of some young men. They would rather take $18 a week in insurance than go where work is available."

This statement was not voiced by any reactionary conservative employer.

It is the considered opinion, recently expressed, of a man intimately acquainted with the operation of our Unemployment Insurance Commission and one who is entirely sympathetic to the plight of those who are jobless through no fault of their own.

Far too many Canadians look upon jobless insurance funds as money which they, themselves, have saved and, therefore, money which they have a right to dispose of as they see fit.

That, of course, is far from the case.

Jobless insurance funds are not the sum total of the savings of all Canadian workers. If each contributor decided to quit work and draw all the unemployment insurance to which he or she is "entitled", the fund would be speedily broke.

While there are over a half billion dollars in the federal unemployment treasury, it is worth noting that last year in which Canadian employment was at a high, the fund staged a very close race between costs and income.

Unemployment insurance is insurance and nothing more. It is intended to cover short term emergencies. It is paid out of funds contributed only one-third by the employee, and the balance by the employer and general tax-paying public.

Insurance is only good if it is paid out under sound business principles. It is not designed, and never was to bonus idleness.

The passing of Labor Day to many of us means only the end of summer vacation period and the approach of cooler weather, but for those who have small children it marks the beginning of another school year. Parents are kept busy with shopping for clothes, buying text books and other school equipment and, in the rush of getting the youngsters off to the class room there is a chance that we will overlook the important factor of health. The reopening of school means that groups of children are brought into close contact, which makes it easier for contagious diseases to spread. Unless children are properly protected against contagious diseases, they may be easy victims of one of more dangerous illnesses. Fortunately, many infections which were dreaded in the past can now be avoided successfully because of the great advances which have been made in the means of preventing the spread of contagious diseases. Notable on this list are smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough, which once took a heavy toll among children. Inoculation against these diseases is now highly effective perfectly safe and painless. For proof of the success of inoculation one has only to realize how infrequently these diseases occur today as compared with a few years ago. In fact they could be eliminated completely if every child were immunized.

Migration Miracle

Geneva Switzerland—The whole program of the International Refugee Organization, in resettling war refugees of the displaced persons camps of Europe, counts heavily on the collaboration and assistance of voluntary societies.

The importance of their work was emphasized by Miss Marjorie Bradford, of the Voluntary Societies Division, at IRO headquarters here, Miss Bradford hails from Vancouver.

Canadian voluntary organizations have been the instrument through which it became possible for many of our refugees to go to Canada on individual sponsorships," she said, "and throughout the country they are doing a very great deal to help IRO with actual reception work, to help the refugees meet unusual hardships or other special difficulties, and to help them fit into the life of the country."

Canadian organizations have also participated in the field operations, either by themselves or as constituent members of international organizations which are working with IRO by agreement in the DP camps. These include the Catholic Immigrant Aid Society, Ukrainian Canadian Relief Fund, Lutheran and other Protestant church organizations working through the Lutheran World Federation and the World Council of Churches, the Mennonite organizations through the Central Mennonite Committee of the United States and Canada, the Canadian Jewish Congress in co-operation with the American Point Distribution Committee, the Canadian YMCA and YWCA through the World's Committees of those organizations.

In Canada itself the Canadian Red Cross is one of those actively helping in the reception and forwarding to refugees, and they have at times also sent supplies into the field areas.

In the field operations voluntary organizations are providing many specialist services for the care of children, the sick and the handicapped, and also contributing special programs for vocational training, language training, education and cultural activities and rehabilitation work. They are helping in many ways to prepare refugees for resettlement, and these activities include orientation courses suitably designed in view of the countries to which the refugees will go.

Voluntary organizations have contributed a tremendous volume of supplementary relief supplies to meet capital needs among the refugees in the camps.

A substantial proportion of our refugees have secured their emigration opportunity through the sponsorship of a voluntary organization," Miss Bradford explained.

"This work, and many welfare services contributed both in our field areas and in countries of resettlement are the important service contributions of the voluntary organizations in addition to that, however, we recognize them as a tremendously important factor in the creation of an informed, sympathetic public opinion to aid us in the solution of our refugee problem."

These organizations also proved their usefulness when IRO came up against the problem of the "hard core"—including many displaced persons difficult to resettle because of advanced age, blindness or the necessity for institutional care. What IRO was able to accomplish through governments or through headquarters action was necessarily limited but co-operation of voluntary societies was of great assistance.

Farm Storage of Grain

Western Canada will harvest a big grain crop in 1950. This means, of course, that large quantities of grain will have to be stored on farms this fall and winter. Careful preparation should be made immediately, therefore, before the grain is harvested and stored, to see to it that farm granaries and bins are in first-class condition — rain-proof, clean, and free from accumulations of old grain and feed.

Thieves of Stored Grain. Insects, fungi (molds), and rats are the great thieves of stored grain. In Western Canada, however, the greatest danger to stored grain are moisture and insects. Grain that is clean, dry and cool is not subject to insect damage or spoilage. To keep well, grain must be dry.

Storage Precautions. Here are some important precautions to observe in preparing farm granaries and bins for the 1950 crop. (1) Repair leaky roofs, windows and doors to exclude rain and snow. (2) Clean walls and floors thoroughly. Sweep the floor with damp sawdust, and then sprinkle a little hydrated lime over it. This should be swept around to fill all cracks. (3) Don't forget that a wooden floor, constructed so as to provide ample air space between the door and the ground, is "Safety Item No. 1" in a farm granary. (4) If the floor is concrete, cover with moisture-proof paper. This will help to reduce possible moisture damage. (5) Don't fill the granary too full. Be sure and leave enough space between the grain and the roof to provide good ventilation.

Basic Rules. The basic rule for storing grain on the farm to prevent damage, particularly from insects, is to keep the grain cool, dry, and free of broken kernels. Carrying out this rule, and practising simple cleanliness in moving and storing grain, will go a long way toward eliminating farm storage losses in Western Canada this fall and winter. If an important grain storage problem develops on your farm this year, seek advice at once from the Stored Products Insect Laboratory, Winnipeg.

Planned Saving
paid off for the Browns

The neighbors remember how sick young Donny was a few months ago, and how worried the Browns were. But they never guessed what a serious drain his illness had been on the family purse.

Wisely, the Browns had made it a rule to put something into their savings account, week by week, almost from the day they were married. So when they consulted their bank manager, their credit was good. With the help of a small bank loan, they were able to pay all their bills promptly. Now Donny is healthy again—and so is their bank account.

Planned saving pays off, when bargains, opportunities or emergencies come along.

Pride In The Past

A VERY YOUNG COUNTRY looks to the future and has more concern with what lies ahead than with the past. Canadians travelling abroad are always impressed with the historic associations surrounding so many of the places of interest in the older lands, and are made to realize how new their own country is, in comparison. However, for a number of years there has been increasing interest here in marking historic sites and in preserving landmarks associated with great events or outstanding people of the past. It is well that interest has been taken in this matter before the significance of many of these places has been forgotten.

Is Essential To Nationhood

uted outstanding citizens who have taken part in the building of the nation. There has been much discussion in recent years regarding the national consciousness of Canadians. Undoubtedly a knowledge of the country's history and pride in the struggles and achievements of the past, are important factors in the growth of a national spirit. The exploration and settlement of Canada, the early struggles for self government, the building of the railway systems and the many other events associated with the early times in this country have left succeeding generations of Canadians many historic places and events which are of lasting interest and importance.

To Preserve Folk-Lore

In addition to the preservation of historic sites, there is also a movement to preserve the folk-lore of early Canada. Canadian Cadets Paid Visit To Balmoral Castle

ABERDEEN, Scotland.—Twenty-five Canadian air cadets enjoyed a privilege rarely bestowed on overseas visitors—a conducted tour of Balmoral Castle.

They saw the royal residence which was being made ready for the King and Queen.

The teen-age Canadians earlier attended services at the little Church of Scotland in the parish of Crathie. They had lunch in the beautiful village of Braemar at the base of the Scottish Foothills.

The luncheon was given in their honor by the City of Aberdeen. The boys flew to Belfast where they were received by Sir Basil Brooke, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland.

PROOF THAT IT DOES PAY TO ADVERTISE

Did you ever stop to think that the poor old duck's business is always in a slump, due to her lack of advertising, asks May Teressa Holder in Coronet. She lays her eggs in seclusion—she never makes any noise about it. But when the hen lays her eggs—her cackles are heard far and near. She tells the world about it—she advertises!

The result is, the world eats hens' eggs by the millions, while the poor old duck's eggs are unsought.

A pedestrian knocked down in an Adelaide, Australia, suburb got up and walked away. The car was taken to a garage with broken headlamps and a crushed radiator.

A circus audience cheered wildly in Rome when 16-year-old acrobat Herbert Lupker dropped from a trapeze on to a lion's back. But the act was unrehearsed—and Herbert was badly mauled.

A young couple planning a move in Van Nuys, California, answered an attractive house-for-sale advertisement. They found it was their own house.

Fortune teller Rachel Lilly asked New Jersey police to find her stolen car. Asked why she did not use her occult powers to locate it herself, she said her crystal ball was in the vehicle when it was stolen.

A woman complained to Florence, Italy, council that whilst travelling in a bus she was splashed by a goldfish carried by another passenger. The council passed a by-law stipulating that goldfish could ride in public transport only if they lay still in their bowls.

Tourists In Florida 15,000 Years Ago

FORT MYERS, Fla.—The first tourists started coming to Florida 15,000 years ago, a state parks official claims.

John D. Pennekamp said necklaces and hairpins made from shells and curved alligator teeth in Florida have been found in Indian mounds as far away as Ohio.

"Presumably, they were taken there by Indians who had been tourists here," Pennekamp says.

European Championships, 1950—Britain v. Iceland. In Room 1 the British East opened One Club, West bid One Diamond and North One Spade. This was passed round to West who made the strong call of Two No-Trumps, but East showed good judgment in passing. North led ♦ Q and West could only make 7 tricks.

At the second table East opened with a conventional One Club and West made the forcing-to-game response of One No-Trump. North bid Two Spades, East and South passed, and West was compelled by his system to play the hand in Three No-Trumps, going three down after leading for a muscle. Iceland, it is true, had no luck on this hand when the Diamonds failed to break, but the more rational British bidding earned 3 match points.

Grandma Builds House With Aid Of Book

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Mrs. Maryellen Phillips is living in a three-room home she built herself.

A grandmother eight times, she put the house together in seven-and-a-half months. She said she did it with a book and $4,000 she saved by denying herself luxuries.

Her son, Gordon Grover, a Santa Fe railroad engineer, helped her during his spare time but Mrs. Phillips said she did most of the work herself.

"The roof was the hardest," she added.

Tenders For Water Pipeline Are Sought

REGINA.—Tenders for the construction of 37 miles of 36-inch pipe for the Buffalo Pound lake water supply system have been called by Allan W. Shattuck, assistant city works superintendent.

Tenders close Oct. 2.

The pipe will be used in a 37-mile line which will carry Buffalo Pound lake water to Regina from a filtration plant southeast of the lake.

Shattuck, chief engineering planner of the Buffalo Pound lake scheme, and Prof. C. R. Forsberg, consulting engineer, have prepared specifications on all-steel pipe and reinforced concrete pipe, 36 inches in diameter. Tenders on either type will be received.

Before tenders can be dealt with by council, however, Regina burgesses must approve a $4,500,000 money bylaw to pay for the city's share of the water system. That vote is expected to be held this fall.

Britain Expects Bumper Crop

LONDON.—Britain hopes to save about $25,000,000 this year because of a bumper wheat crop.

The National Farmers Union said in a statement that if things turn out as expected the country will obtain 375,895 more tons of homegrown wheat than last year.

"This," the statement said, "would represent a saving equivalent to $25,000,000 U.S., as compared with what we should have to spend if we imported this under the (international) wheat agreement."

Youth Locked In Box Car Five Days

CALGARY.—Locked for five days in a strike-bound C.P.R. box car, 19-year-old Jack MacDonald of Toronto is in satisfactory condition in hospital here.

The youth, who was heading east on the prairies to look for a harvesting job, was without food for the 101 hours he spent in the locked car.

He was heard calling for help by some youngsters playing near the car standing in the freight yards.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

An Official Letter

Special Award For Chris' Bravery.

By Samuel Campbell

THE address on the important-looking letter with the blue seal on the back read: "Captain Charles Christopher Stevenson, Tugboat Trail Blazer, Pier No. 27."

Old Chris held the letter in one hand and with the other scratched a shaggy eyebrow and pushed his old weather-beaten hat far back on a balding pate. While he had been in the city making final arrangements about purchasing two new shiny life preservers and a set of chrome-plated letters which spelled "Trail Blazer", the mailman had shoved this letter under the window sill of the tugboat's small but spotlessly clean cabin.

"Charles Christopher Stevenson", he mused. It was so long since anyone had called him anything but Chris that he had almost forgotten he possessed the Charles and Stevenson.

"Ahoy! Don't hit any icebergs this afternoon, eh?" Chris shoved the letter deep into a pocket of his jacket, intending to open it later, and turned to see the owner of this gruff voice. He was walking spryly along the dock, and Chris recognized him as one of his cronies . . . one who had spent many a pleasant winter evening in the Trail Blazer's warm cabin playing checkers or just talking about the sea and listening to the wind.

But now the ice in the bay was floating out to the lake; the sun was glistening on the white wings of hovering gulls; spring was in the air and Chris' fingers were itching to hold the helm of his 25-year-old pride and joy and ease her out through the channel into the open waters of the Great Lakes.

"She looks mighty shipshape," said old Marty, appraising the captain's paint and window-cleaning job. "How'd you like a passenger on your first trip of the season?"

"Nope!" replied Chris, firmly but friendly. "You oughta know I always take that first one alone. Kinda superstitious about that, I guess."

"Well, good sailin', Chris," and old Marty went about his own little business of boat repairs.

Hunting Dates Set For Sask.

REGINA. — Southern Saskatchewan hunters will take to the fields and marshes in search of ducks and geese Monday, Oct. 2. Dates for this year's open seasons on waterfowl and upland game were announced in a bureau of publications release by E. L. Paynter, game commissioner for the department of natural resources.

They showed that sportsmen will have a full eight weeks with gun and dog on the hunt for ducks and geese. Seasons on both in the south end Nov. 25.

Monday, Sept. 25, will mark the opening of the game bird season in the northern areas and hunters there may open fire on ducks, geese and sharp-tailed grouse. Open season on other game birds, Hungarian partridge, ruffed grouse and ptarmigan, begins under way a week later.

The bag limit on ducks is eight per day and a hunter may have no more than 16 in his possession at any one time. The limit on geese is five per day and possession limit is ten. The season on both birds is the same. In the northern area, roughly that part of the province north of highway number five from Kamsack to Lloydminster, the season is open Sept. 25 to Nov. 18. South of highway five, the season is October 2 to Nov. 25.

The open season for sharp-tailed grouse is Sept. 25 to Oct. 23 in regions two and three north of highway five. For the rest of the province, excluding the southwest corner, the season is open only three weeks—October 2 to 23. This latter season excludes region seven in the southwest, which roughly is bounded on the east by highway number four from the international border to Rosetown, and on the north by highway number seven from Rosetown to Aslask.

The bag limit is five sharp-tailed grouse per day and possession limit is 10. In the northern area which has the longer season, bag limit is 20 for the season. South of highway five, excepting region seven, residents may shoot 10 or less sharp-tailed grouse but may bring their season's bag up to 20 if they travel north of highway five to do their shooting.

The regulations concerning sharp-tailed grouse are not to be confused with square-tailed or penated grouse, the true prairie chicken, upon which birds there is no open season.

The season on Hungarian partridge is October 2 to 9, inclusive, in the area south of a line roughly border-to-border through Prince Albert, again excluding region seven in the southeast. The northern boundary is traced out by the C.N.R. line from the Manitoba border to Tisdale, highway 35 from Tisdale to White Fox, and highway 55 from White Fox through Prince Albert and west to the Alberta border. The bag limit on Hungarian partridge is three per day and six for the season. Hunters can have no more than three in their possession at one time.

Regulations on ruffed grouse are similar to those on Hungarian partridge. The season is open the same time—October 2 to 9—while the bag limit is three per season and possession is three at one time. The area, however, includes a larger district in the north (region two), and excludes a greater portion of the south. The area excluded is that south of highways seven and 15 from the Alberta border to Raymore and west of highways 35, 22 and six from the international border to Raymore.

The season on ptarmigan extends from Oct. 1 to Jan. 31, 1951, and applies to the whole of the province frequented by the birds. Bag limit is 10 per day and 30 for the season. A hunter is allowed to have no more than 10 birds in his possession at one time.

An additional regulation requires that all hunting shotguns in the province be plugged so that magazine cannot carry more than two shells between Sept. 1 and Nov. 30.

Licence fees remain at $2 for residents and $10 for Canadians not residing in Saskatchewan. Fees for aliens is $25.

HOUSING CONFERENCE

OTTAWA.—Housing laws and how to make good use of them will be the theme of a two-day national conference to open here Oct. 6. Alan Armstrong, executive director of the Community Planning association of Canada, said.

Cpl. White saved the life of H. Purvis who was caught in a whirlpool while swimming in Lake Athabasca in northern Alberta last summer. He found the unconscious swimmer after repeated dives and revived him on shore after 10 minutes of artificial respiration.

New Brick Plant

ESTEVAN, Sask.—The Saskatchewan Government is building a new $400,000 brick plant at Estevan. It is of the closed-in tunnel-kiln type, able to operate all year round.

The open season for sharp-tailed grouse is Sept. 25 to Oct. 23 in regions two and three north of highway five. For the rest of the province, excluding the southwest corner, the season is open only three weeks—October 2 to 23. This latter season excludes region seven in the southwest, which roughly is bounded on the east by highway number four from the international border to Rosetown, and on the north by highway number seven from Rosetown to Aslask.

The bag limit is five sharp-tailed grouse per day and possession limit is 10. In the northern area which has the longer season, bag limit is 20 for the season. South of highway five, excepting region seven, residents may shoot 10 or less sharp-tailed grouse but may bring their season's bag up to 20 if they travel north of highway five to do their shooting.

The regulations concerning sharp-tailed grouse are not to be confused with square-tailed or penated grouse, the true prairie chicken, upon which birds there is no open season.

Pronounced First Vow

GRAVELBOURG, Sask.—Word has been received that Alain Piche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Piche, pronounced his first vows in the Order of the Oblate Fathers at the Oblate Novitiate, St. Norbert, Man. Paul Piche, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Piche, Kelowna, B.C., made his entry the same day at the Novitiate.

Grade And Yield Down

WINNIPEG.—Frost damage to Manitoba grain will be reflected in both grade and yield in many areas, Manitoba pool elevators said in a weekly crop report. The report said full extent of the damage may not be known until fairly representative samples of all grains are available from the affected areas.

New Plant To Handle Manitoba's Wild Rice Crop

WINNIPEG.—Resources Minister J. S. McDiarmid said Canada's first wild-rice processing and packaging plant is under construction at Lac du Bonnet, Man. It will be ready to handle this year's crop.

Manitoba wild rice is considered the best on the continent. In the past it has found a large market in the United States but has always been sold unprocessed.

The plant, involving a capital investment of about $25,000, is privately-owned. It will handle about 200,000 pounds of rice a season.

PRODUCTION FALLS

Ice cream must be losing its popularity. The bureau of statistics reported production of the frozen sweet in the first seven months of the year fell more than 1,000,000 pounds—from 15,438,000 in 1949 to 14,097,000.

The average college-trained American man in a lifetime will earn $63,000 more than the non-college man.

Oil Leases Net Alberta $8,370,524

EDMONTON.—Royalite Oil company of Calgary bought oil rights on four separate quarter-sections of land in the Redwater oilfield for more than $5,000,000 to take the lion's share in the Alberta government lease sale.

Thirteen pieces of land in the Redwater and Leduc oilfields, totalling about 1,700 acres, were on the block and netted the government $8,370,524.

No records were established for individual purchases. Royalite's top bid was $1,727,100 for quarter section (parcel 101) sandwiched between producing wells on the field's southeast fringe.

The total amount paid by Royalite, already a big producer in the Redwater field, was the largest ever paid by a single company at a government sale.

Other bids accepted for leases in and around the southeast section of the Redwater field were:

No. 98—$502,000, Texaco Exploration Co.; No. 99—$633,174, Dome Exploration (western) Ltd.; No. 100—$927,174 Dome Exploration (western) Ltd.; No. 102—$500,101 Pacific Petroleum Ltd.; No. 103—$1,423,800 Royalite Oil Company Ltd.; No. 104—$1,628,100 Royalite Oil Company Ltd.; No. 105—$225,900 Royalite Oil Company Ltd.

In the Leduc field, two quarter sections adjoining recent discoveries in the southeastern corner known as parcels numbers five and six, both went to Texaco Exploration for $226,000 each.

Interesting Symbol

In the British House of Commons, when a Speaker is chosen, this is done before hand and when the House meets the Clerk of the House rises and points his finger silently at the member who has been chosen.

Then two members catch him by the arm and force him to the Speaker's chair with every evidence of unwillingness on his part—even going to the point of shaking his fist at those who escort him. The point is that being Speaker years ago meant being an officer of the House of Commons who spoke to the king, very severely sometimes, about the liberties of the people and the amount of the people's income which the king was spending. It was sometimes a rather risky post to hold.

The full symbolism is not used in Ottawa. There is not the same clear evidence of unwillingness of the part of a new speaker. It would be a good thing perhaps if the old fashioned ritual were perpetuated in detail.

The theory of democratic government is that the man who serves the public does so at loss and inconvenience. He risks unpopularity. He undertakes an unpleasant and unpredictable task, because it is his duty to do so.

It seems a long time ago since anyone mentioned this in Canada. It seems many years ago that the idea was changed and Canadians were given to understand that election to a legislature, or public office of any kind, was a sort of privilege, paying very good returns, and to be sought after—not avoided.

This is all evidence of the change which has come over the idea of government of democracies. Where governments and their officials were supposed to be servants of the people, elected to serve the people well they were paid and treated about as poorly as servants often are. There has grown up the idea that ministers, members of parliament, and the civil servants are a specially favored class of people, who have won great privileges, for which they must be well rewarded. It is now becoming rather improper to say that a government is badly run or that it wastes money, or that it tries all kinds of experiments without sufficient thought. People in this country have been heard to say that anyone who says that the Prime Minister at any time is not fit for his job is being a disloyal citizen.

Probably it is not possible to go the whole way to the old system, but sensible men will agree that it would be a good thing if there were a little more of the idea that public office of any sort is sometimes undertaken unwillingly, at loss and inconvenience even at the risk of unpopularity, for the solitary purpose of serving the nation unselfishly.

MIGRATION MIRACLE

were made to resettle 960 aged in homes operated by the Little Sisters of the Poor in France, 250 aged in Belgium, 300 tubercular refugees in Sweden, a large number of totally blind in Norway, thousands of Jewish persons in Israel, and so on.

J. Donald Kingsley, director general of IRO announced the agreement with the Little Sisters of the Poor in France. "These 960 old folk," he said, "constitute the largest single group yet to be taken by any agency or government from the 'hard core' of our 17,000 aged and chronic sick who require institutional care. I cannot praise too highly the spirit of Christian charity which has prompted this Order to strain its resources to the utmost to help them."

Mr. Kingsley pointed out that the men and women who will benefit from the Order's assistance have been living in the IRO camps in Germany and Austria, some of them for several years, and that all were concerned for their future after IRO goes out of existence.

"Now," he said, "they will be able to live in tranquility and comfort until the end of their days."

The director general especially complimented the Order on the fact that their selection was not to be determined on religious grounds.

The project originated with Father Edward Killion of the Vatican Migration Bureau in Geneva who approached the Mother Superior of the Little Sisters of the Poor in Paris, with a request that she seek homes for a few members of the "hard core" one of the IRO's most difficult problems. The Mother Superior responded with a call throughout France, requesting each to take the maximum number possible.

Father Braun, specially delegated by the Order visited Germany and Austria to make up a selection list which he took back to Paris for approval of the Mother Superior.

All these aged will be sixty or more. Some of them are married couples but the majority are widows or widowers and faced a bleak and lonely existence without friends or relatives.

"They will make new friends in a new environment. We think they will like France," says Father Braun.

Thus goes on the vast and complex program of the International Refugee Organization in performing its "migration miracle."
